

A widespread power outage has crippled Haiti's capital and parts of the country's central region after protesters forced the shutdown of the Peligre hydroelectric plant -- the nation's largest.

Port-au-Prince is enduring severe electricity rationing as widespread sabotage and the prolonged closure of Haiti's main hydroelectric plant cripple the power supply, the state electricity ...

While the metropolitan area remains plunged in darkness, the Electricity of Haiti (EDH) issued an explanatory statement on November 10, 2025. According to the note released by the ...

A protest that forced the total shutdown of Haiti's largest hydroelectric plant has resulted in an ongoing power outage in Port-au-Prince and the country's central region, utility operators...

With power outages worsening and criminal gangs expanding their control, the humanitarian crisis is expected to escalate further unless immediate action is taken. A prolonged ...

Since June 17, the Peligre hydroelectric plant, one of the country's primary sources of power, has been offline. Residents of Mirebalais forced the shutdown in protest, demanding stronger ...

Over half of the Haitian population did not have access to electricity, according to a report published in 2021. The Electricity of Haiti (EDH), the state utility company responsible for the service, ...

With Mirebalais under gang control for over a month, residents have forcefully closed Haiti's main hydroelectric plant in protest, plunging Port-au-Prince into darkness amid existing fears ...

Haiti's capital has entered its 62nd consecutive day without electricity, a crisis that has paralyzed daily life, deepened insecurity, and sparked growing outrage against the Presidential ...

Web: <https://inalaaccelerator.co.za>