

The DCMR is the official compilation of the permanent rules, statements, and legal documents circulated by DC government executive agencies and departments, the Council of the District of Columbia, and ...

Electricity Laws and Incentives in District of Columbia The list below contains summaries of all District of Columbia laws and incentives related to electricity.

(a) All electricity suppliers must obtain a license issued by the Commission in order to do business in the District of Columbia. (b) An application for an electricity supplier license shall:

Washington D.C. regulates transmission rates for electricity under a deregulated market system through the Public Service Commission (PSC). The PSC sets the rates based on several factors, including ...

In the District of Columbia, the District of Columbia Public Service Commission (PSC) regulates the landline telephone, electricity and gas utility companies operating within Washington DC.

Laws and regulations related to energy, its sources and its use in the District.

Here you will find information on Utility regulation, restructuring and links to the District laws and regulations governing utility services.

DOEE participates in legislative issues before the DC Council to pursue the establishment of conservation programs and policies which foster energy efficiency and affordable services. Below ...

Publication Information Current through Feb. 2, 2026 Last codified D.C. Law: Law 26-80 effective Dec. 31, 2025 Last codified Emergency Law: Act 26-249 effective Feb. 2, 2026 Last codified ...

Web: <https://inalaaccelerator.co.za>